So Happy to be a part of a project that is in the running for Grammy Consideration in the Jazz Vocal Category. Senri Oe has gathered a lush assembly of singers and composers to help him realize "Answer July." Penning lyrics for three songs, the great Jon Hendricks offers up more wise and witty prose to his already historic collection. Sheila Jordan stars on two pieces that capture her spritely soul with yet another lesson to all of us in delivering a lyric and having fun while doing it. Theo Bleckmann slays us with "A Little Wine" (lyric by Jon), a sober, yet honest love song to the all mighty bottle of fermented grape. Becca Stevens pens a nuanced lyric and delivers with her caramel flare the title track, "Answer July." And I filled in the spaces singing and offering three sets of lyrics to Senri's angular and quirky voiced music, "Without any Moon or Rain," "The Very Secret Spring," and "Garden Christmas."

Thanks for checking out Senri Oe's vision and profound respect he has shown for the folks he has assembled and honored.

Tangent Theatre performs at Tivoli restaurants Sundays in December

THIS MONTH, TIVOLI's Tangent Theatre ventures outside the black box of its usual mainstage space, the Carpenter Shop Theater, with live performances at several neighborhood restaurants as part of its fall/winter 16 Selects reading series. It's a long-standing tradition of performing dramatic readings at the Traghaven Whiskey Pub (formerly the Black Swan), reaching out to folks who like some hard refreshment to accompany their theatergoing.

The Sunday dinner theater series starts on November 20 with a performance of David Jacobi's Widower at Paragon and continues on December 4 at Santa Fe with Somersaulting by Liz Marlowe. Michael Rhodes directs; the cast includes Alexandra Angeloch, Willem Marx, Iliana Mello, Rishi Mutalik, Amie Tedesco, and Payton Smith. Santa Fe is located at 120 Broadway in Tivoli.
